Skilled Workers

Skilled workers are people selected as permanent residents based on their ability to become economically established in Canada. Federal skilled worker applications are assessed for eligibility according to the Following criteria;-

For your application to be eligible for processing, you must:

- include the results of your official language proficiency test, AND
- have a valid offer of “arranged employment”, OR
- have one year of continuous full-time paid work experience in at least one of the occupations listed below.

If you meet the above minimum requirements, your application will be processed according to the six selection factors in the skilled worker points grid: - your education, your abilities in English and/or French (Canada’s two official languages), your work experience, your age, whether you have arranged employment in Canada, and your adaptability. You must also show that you have enough money to support yourself and your dependants after you arrive in Canada.

Note: At present the pass mark for Skilled Worker applicants is 67 points, and for Business migrant is 35 points

If you are applying under one of the 29 eligible occupations (see below), between 1st July 2011 and 30 June 2012, a maximum of 10,000 complete Federal Skilled Worker applications will be considered for processing. Within the 10,000 cap, a maximum of 500 Federal Skilled Worker applications per eligible occupation will be considered for processing within this same time frame. These limits do not apply to applications with an offer of arranged employment. Once each specific occupation cap has been reached, CIC will only accept applications for that occupation from people with an existing offer of arranged employment.

For those who had lodged their application before 1st July 2011, the processing times have still to be advised. New federal skilled worker applications that do not meet the eligibility criteria outlined above will not be processed and the application fee will be refunded by Citizenship and Immigration Canada.
